

Hayle Neighbourhood Plan Generating the Draft Objectives

Members of the Steering Group have had an opportunity to review the draft aims as presented to their meeting on the 19th August 2014. The draft aims seem to have generally been found to be acceptable for the purpose of establishing a draft neighbourhood planning framework for consultation purposes. I have made some amendments as a result of comments received – see items in red on the attached work sheets. The draft aims therefore are offered to you as the basis for generating a set of, more focussed, draft objectives for your Neighbourhood Plan.

Steering Group members are reminded that “the objectives are derived from the aims. The objectives set out what the plan and its policies intend to achieve. Being more specific the objectives are often the aspect of the neighbourhood planning framework that attracts most attention and comment from the community” (from my report to the Steering Group, as amended 20 August 2014).

It is the purpose of the next Steering Group meeting on 11 September 2014 to generate a set of draft objectives. The Steering Group has been given a good start to the process in as much as John Bennett has already provided (at a meeting on 9th July 2014) a set of draft objectives to be considered. I have refined these and listed them on worksheets.

Members are invited to either adopt and amend this initial list and add draft objectives as they see fit. To help I have provided a set of worksheet for members to use to add their thoughts on objectives.

You are free to undertake this process in whatever manner you choose and is most comfortable to the Group. If you have a full attendance on the 11th September I would suggest that working in small groups on specific topics, and then sharing the product of this group work with the whole meeting for discussion, might be the most efficient way to generate a list of draft objectives in less than 2 hours.

As a safeguard and to ensure everyone gets chance to consider the matter at a more leisurely pace, the set of draft objectives generated should be circulated following the meeting to give members an additional few days to add to further or raise queries etc. I will be happy too to comment on and to help refine the list of draft objectives.

If the meeting has some stamina left it might be apposite to spend 15 minutes or so collectively discussing vision statements. In my opinion the vision statement, if it is required, should encapsulate the draft key themes, that are also listed on the worksheets that follow.

It is intended that the vision, draft aims and draft objectives generated by this process will be the subject of the next round of community consultation in the autumn.

Vision Statement for Hayle (from PW)

A thriving and welcoming town that respects its unique setting and heritage whilst forging a strong and vibrant community with modern services, amenities and technology that allows people of all ages to enjoy an active and affordable lifestyle.

Vision Statement for Hayle (from David Raymer)

A town that is prepared to cherish its past and be able to look to the future; with a clear view of what is required to sustain the quality of life of residents and visitors alike.

The meeting identified a general need to ensure that we allow exceptions to policies so that we do not prevent things that we want.

For example, if we restrict development on green-field sites, we should allow an exception for quality job creation (as opposed to housing).
